

CANTRILL FOR GOVERNOR?

Yesterday's Louisville Herald had the following first-column-first-page story from the pen of Robert E. Dundon, political writer, regarding the possible candidacy of Congressman-elect J. Campbell Cantrill for Governor of Kentucky:

"Regardless of the effort of a small coterie of Democratic politicians and Louisville newspapermen to 'handpick' the candidate of that party for Governor and to raise obstacles against worthy party members who may seek the nomination, the candidate will be selected by the party itself, and not by such individuals. The Herald learned on good authority last night.

"Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, it was learned from an impeccable source, is only delaying his announcement until what he deems to be the proper time, and is a certain starter for governor. Mr. Cantrill replied with a vigorous and pointed 'no' to overtures made to him to withdraw. He is now in Lexington, but will leave for Washington the latter part of this week.

"It was also learned that Mr. Cantrill will not consent to the plan, reported to have been concocted in Louisville, by this same inner cabal, to substitute a nominating convention for a primary. The Seventh District Congressman insists that the Democrats pursue their time-honored policy of settling the nomination by a State-wide primary.

"Alben W. Barkley, of Paducah, the First District candidate, also has affirmed his stand in favor of a primary. A majority of the present Democratic State Central Committee takes the same attitude.

"Mr. Cantrill is quoted as saying that the League of Women Voters and other similar organizations have for their cardinal principle the upholding of the direct primary, and that the women 'would not support a candidate selected in any other way.'"

FORMER BOURBON MAN IN THE ORIENT

THE NEWS is in receipt of a letter from W. Renick Smith, grandson of Mrs. Wm. H. Renick, of Paris, who is now in China, as advance agent for the Adele Blood Dramatic Co., touring the Orient. In the letter Mr. Smith enclosed a clipping from the Kobe, Japan, Herald, of October 9, giving a resume of Miss Blood's triumphs and the tour she is contemplating in foreign lands. Mr. Smith said, in part:

"I have found Japan most intriguing, a land of romance and color. China is different, it's very interesting, in contrast, but its natives are not so easy to study. I find the poverty here appalling and woman in China is a thousand years behind the times. Here man is king and poor little wife, often with bound feet, is a non-entity."

"There is a large English population in Shanghai, and quite a few enterprising Americans — of course being Americans, they would be enterprising. I go from here in advance of Miss Blood's company to Manila, Hongkong, Singapore, Calcutta and Bombay, India. Shall likely spend Christmas in either Singapore, Rangoon or in Calcutta."

SUNDAY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Miss Elizabeth Rule, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rule, of Paris, was slightly injured about the right hip, and Miss Hazel Arnold, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, bruised and cut, and Miss Henrietta Muth, of Lexington, had her hip split, as the result of an auto accident which took place Sunday afternoon, near Lexington.

The young ladies were riding on a truck, belonging to the Muth Baking Company, and driven by Al Muth, of Lexington, at a point about three and one-half miles from Lexington. In endeavoring to avoid a machine which made a sudden turn to get in a gateway just ahead of them, the truck was overturned. Young Muth was comparatively unhurt. They were picked up by passers-by and taken to the St. Joseph's Hospital, where their injuries were treated. Miss Rule was not seriously injured, and was able to be brought to her home in this city yesterday. The machine was badly damaged.

A machine in which Miss Annabelle Ward, manager of the Paris Grand and Alamo, her brother and sister were riding on High street, collided Saturday morning at the corner of Twelfth and High streets, with a machine driven by a man named Taylor, of Cynthiana, who was en route to Lexington. Both machines were considerably damaged, but the occupants escaped with a severe shaking up.

POTATOES AT BOTH ENDS

(Cynthiana Democrat)
Julian Caldwell, bachelor farmer of Pointexter, brought to The Democratic office a curiosity in the shape of a potato vine with several potatoes growing on each end. How this particular vine happened to be playing both ends against the middle is not apparent, unless it learned the trick from Julian. It can establish double action potatoes as a regular thing all over the world.

FORMER P. H. S. SUPERINTENDENT DEAD IN BROOKLYN

Prof. Eli Witwer Weaver, at one time Superintendent of the Paris City Schools, and one of the best-known educators in America, died at his home, No. 25 Jefferson avenue, in Brooklyn, New York, after an illness of two weeks from pernicious anemia. Prof. Weaver was in his sixty-first year. He will be well-remembered here by hundreds of students, who were under his care and instruction in the old Paris City School. The Brooklyn Eagle has the following:

"Rarely has a school teacher taken the deep interest in his students that was manifested by Mr. Weaver. He not only guided them in their efforts to secure employment, but also carefully watched their progress in order to see that they did not get into business ruts. Thousands of his pupils to-day owe their progress to his skillful aid. It was his outstanding purpose in life to see that the boys and girls he came in contact with got a good start in life.

"An outgrowth of his work was the formation of the Students Employment Committee of the High School Teachers' Association.

"Mr. Weaver came from an old Pennsylvania Dutch family and was born at Churchtown, Pa., on Aug. 5, 1862, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weaver. He was graduated from the Pennsylvania State Normal School and New York University and first entered educational work in the South. He was for a short time Superintendent of Schools at Paris, Bellevue and Carrollton, Ky. He came to New York in 1900 and shortly afterwards was appointed assistant teacher of mathematics in Boys' High School. He spent his entire career as a New York City teacher in this school.

"Since his retirement three years ago, Mr. Weaver devoted most of his time to vocational guidance work and lectured at the Teachers' College in Columbia University on this subject. He also lectured for the Y. M. C. A., and wrote a number of books on the subject, among them being: 'Building a Career,' 'Profitable Vocations for Boys,' 'Profitable Vocations for Girls,' and 'Medicine as a Profession.'

"His health was affected somewhat the loss of two sons, who were in the service during the World War. One son, Luther O. Weaver, was one of the first Brooklyn lads to die in the war, being a victim of the sinking of the U. S. patrol boat, Alcedo, sunk on Nov. 5, 1917. The two other sons, Lt. John H. Weaver, who was in the Naval aviation service during the war, was injured in an airplane accident at the Marine Corps station, Paris Island, S. C., in August, 1920, while awaiting his discharge, and died a few days later.

"Mr. Weaver is survived by his wife, Susan E. Oberlin, whom he married in 1887, four daughters, Amy, Elizabeth, Mary and Mrs. Bertha Liebenschperger, and three sons, Paul, Ernest and James Weaver, and seven brothers and two sisters. He was an elder in the Classon Avenue Presbyterian church where his funeral services were conducted by the Rev. R. M. Huston, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment was in Greenwood Cemetery."

THE GRIDIRON FIELD

The game scheduled for Saturday between the M. M. I. and the Carlisle High School teams was postponed to Wednesday, November 29, by mutual agreement, on account of four of the M. M. I. team being disabled or sick. M. M. I. has scheduled a game with the Kentucky Military Institute to be played on the M. M. I. grounds on November 24. The teams are evenly matched.

There are only two military schools in the State and this will be the first time the teams have met. The alumni is endeavoring to make this game a home-coming for former students and graduates. The M. M. I. and Lexington Model High School teams are scheduled for a game on Saturday, November 18, at 2:30 p. m., on the home grounds.

Somers High and Paris High School teams played a 7 to 7 game at Somerset Friday afternoon. The Somerset team had expected a rather easy game, and were greatly surprised when Paris Hi put up an unusually strong game. Somerset backs fumbled the ball ten times during the afternoon, and did not recover the ball but once. Somerset alleges that this was (the reason) Paris scored. A large crowd attended.

The Picadome High School football team of Fayette county defeated the M. M. I. team at Millersburg Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. The features of the game were the thirty and thirty-five yard run made by William and Cook, respectively, of the Picadome eleven. The visitors' marker came in the third period when Price went through the Millersburg line for a touchdown, Cook failing to kick goal.

MEMORIAL BUILDING FREE FROM DEBT

Not a cent of indebtedness rests on the new Memorial Building, which was dedicated Saturday during the Armistice Day exercises, according to an announcement made by Miss Lucy Blythe Simms, chairman of the Memorial Building Fund. When the building was turned over to the trustees it was with the understanding that all indebtedness had been officially settled.

For many months the fund committee was undecided whether to erect a monument in the public square or a memorial building to Bourbon county's former service men. The building will also be used as a community center. At a meeting of the Executive Committee a committee was appointed to equip and furnish a ladies' rest room for the Community House.

The new Board of Managers is composed of Arthur B. Hancock, for the county-at-large, chairman, N. Ford Brent; Harold Harris, Jos. Davis, Jr., and Lucien Arnsperger, for the American Legion; Mrs. Jas. McClure, Mrs. Allie Smith Dickson and Mrs. Wm. O. Hinton, were selected by the Women's Club, not as representatives of that organization, but for the women of the county at large.

THE QUADRENNIAL SNARE

Nothing is calculated to stir up more bickering in a Kentucky community than a vote on allowing stock to run at large. When this question is up for settlement it is apt to relegate to the background the tariff, reparations, ship subsidy and the like until it is determined whether the owner must keep his cattle within an inclosure or be allowed to turn them out to roam at will.

Where in one precinct a large majority of citizens may be in favor of penning up the stock, in the very next precinct it may be just the reverse.

The last Legislature amended the stock law by permitting the proposition to be submitted every two years instead of four years as before. The validity of the amendment is now before the Court of Appeals and upon the decision will depend whether some communities will become embroiled in a biennial quadrennial quarrel over the question.

The world is anxiously awaiting for some kind of dependable plan whereby it can reform some of its reformers.

COURT NEWS

The Lexington Herald says: "Mrs. Pearl Robinson, who was arrested last week by prohibition officers, charged with transporting liquor and a conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, when she had her preliminary trial before Charles N. Wiard, United States Commissioner, at the Federal building was promptly vindicated and dismissed.

"It developed on the trial of the case that Roy Sutherland, a distant relative of Mrs. Robinson, was working in the interest of another person, who is the defendant in a case now pending at Paris, Ky."

PARIS COUPLE LEGALLY ADOPT HOMELESS BOY

The handsome blue-eyed boy baby, who was brought to Lexington several days ago by Mrs. Leila Thomas, of Oakdale, Tenn., who stated that it was thrust into her arms in Knoxville by an unknown woman who asked her to mother it, has found a permanent home with Mr. and Mrs. Ireland Davis, of Paris, and the homeless infant of unknown parentage will be tenderly cared for as their own child.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, having lost their infant son only a short time before, upon learning of the condition of the waif, came to Lexington and made application to County Judge E. H. Doak, to adopt it. Judge Doak consented for them to have the child, pending inquiry which might develop information concerning its parentage.

Judge Doak stated Saturday that he had failed to learn anything of the child's parentage, and since Mr. and Mrs. Davis had evinced a desire to adopt it and give it a good home, their wishes would be gratified.

Adoption papers will be prepared as soon as Mr. and Mrs. Davis come to Lexington again, which will be some time this week and the youngster, who is thriving at his new home, will be legally transferred to them as their heir.

HOME OF MISS ARKLE IS BURNED

The residence of Miss Ida Arkle, on the Jackstown pike, the former home of the late Sidney G. Clay, was destroyed by fire shortly after noon Saturday. Miss Arkle lost practically all her household goods. She is engaged in the dairy business, and was in Paris at the time her home was consumed by the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss on the building, which is owned by James M. McClure, is partly covered by insurance, but Miss Arkle carried no insurance on her household goods.

"THE BANK OF SERVICE"

The Test of Character

The president of a big corporation gave this as this reason why his company employed salesmen on a commission basis only:

"It's the best test of character we can apply. If a man hasn't saved enough money to carry himself a month or so he's rarely the kind who can measure up to the opportunity we offer."

Why not take a fixed amount out of your salary every pay day and put it to work in an interest bearing account at this bank? It will then enable you to grasp opportunity when it comes.

Pay yourself first—it's the sensible thing to do.

ATTENTION, TURKEY RAISERS!
A PREMIUM ON TURKEYS

In order to encourage the Farmers' Housewives with the Turkey Raising industry, which is a very trying job, as it requires constant care and vigilance to bring up the delicate young fowls to their turkeyhood, we have decided to put a premium on your turkey money, and since money is only a medium of exchange we will exchange your turkey money with a ten per cent (10 per cent) premium for our Shoes and Hose during the turkey-selling season.

FOR INSTANCE

If you realize $10 for the sale of your turkeys we will accept it for $11 (eleven dollars) in exchange for Shoes or Stockings. You all know the standard and quality of our Shoes. We handle nothing but solid leather shoes from the very best and most reliable shoe manufacturers in the country, and our prices are the lowest possible, considering the quality, every pair marked in plain figures. So come direct with your turkey money to Friedman's Shoe Store and get a ten per cent (10 per cent) premium on each and every dollar of your purchase.
